

I do not want our Do Not Call law changed. I am happy with my privacy and not being continually bothered day and night by calls from telemarketers. This practice was very upsetting and annoying during the illness and death of my family members. The best thing that ever happened was joining the do not call list!